Welcome to Vancouver

Surrounded by the majestic peaks of the North Shore Mountains and the gentle waves and flow of the Pacific Ocean, Vancouver is the biggest city (with a population of over 2.2 million) to ever host an Olympic Winter Games. The West Coast Canadian city will host the Games from February 12 to 28, 2010, along with the world-class ski resort of Whistler, where alpine skiing, cross-country skiing, sliding, and Nordic events will be held. Whistler has one of the fastest sliding tracks in the world, with speeds clocked at over 150 kilometres an hour! The winding track is located under a forest canopy in the beautiful Fitzsimmons Valley. The newest Olympic sport, ski cross, is a freestyle skiing event in which skiers begin with a mass start and then race down a steep, tight, winding course. Ski cross debuts at the Cypress Mountain venue, a short drive from downtown Vancouver.

The Vancouver Organizing Committee for the 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games aims to leave a legacy of sustainability on everything it touches. For example, the venues are eco-friendly, waste and carbon emissions are reduced and the Whistler alpine skiing course was redesigned to avoid damaging a rare small-tailed frog habitat.

Vancouver and Whistler will also host the Paralympic Winter Games from March 12 to 21, 2010.

WINTER GAMES

This is where you play the events of the Olympic Winter Games. Select from the following modes:

- Single Match (1-4 Players)
- Festival (1-4 Players) (p.10)
- Training (1 Player) (p.11)
- Wii Balance Board (1 Player) (p.11)

Single Match

This is the mode to play individual events. First, select the number of players participating in the game.

Note: To play the multiplayer game, you must have more than one Wii Remote. With Wii Remote(s) synced to the same Wii, simply press any button to add. To use Wii Remote(s) not synced to the Wii in use, first, press the + button on any synced Wii Remote, then press the 1 & 2 buttons simultaneously on the Wii Remote you wish to add. Finally, select the number of players.

If you have selected more than one player, select the mode of play for multiplayer game:

Versus Everyone plays against each other.

TeamVersus Play a two-on-two game.

Co-op Play Everyone plays on the same team.

Note: In TeamVersus or Co-op Play, your selection on the next screen (Select Event) will be limited to team events.

Also: In Versus or TeamVersus, your records will not be saved onto your data, and you will not earn medals.

There are nine sports with 56 events. Select a sport. If the selected sport contains multiple disciplines or events, select the event to play.

Apart from the Olympic Events, there are also Dream Events with original rules. Select Dream Events to watch the Movie, then select an event.

Note: Among the Dream Events, only Dream Ski Cross and Dream Snowboard Cross are available from the beginning.

You will need to unlock the other events in order to play them.

Next, select a character to use. If you select Random, the characters will be selected randomly by the game. If you select ANI™, you may select one of the ANI characters registered to your Wii console.

With TeamVersus play, you can change the setup of the teams. Press the 2 Button to change the distribution of team members.

Select OK to confirm your selection.

Note: If you are playing a team event by yourself, you can select up to four characters. When one character is selected, a shaded OK icon will be displayed. Select this, and any member in your team not selected will be chosen by the game automatically. With multiplayer play, each player selects one player, and the game will automatically choose the character(s) to fill the vacant spot(s) on the board(s). Also, when playing a team event (such as Team Large Hill, bobsleigh, ice hockey, etc.) in two-player or multiplayer Co-op Play, you can use a team registered in Festival Mode (p.10). Press the 2 Button to call up the team members.

You are now ready to play the event. Select one of the following:

Instructions View Rules, Controls, Tips, Hints (Dream Events only) or View all to see the event in step-by-step descriptions.

Ghost match Have your fastest data displayed while racing in the event. Available only with selected events, and whenever the Ghost data is present (see below).

Go to event Start the event.

For some events, point at the arrows on the right side of the screen to change the number/amount of Periods/Ends/Time in a match.

For some events, there may be additional settings you must choose before you start the event:

■ Some events in Team Versus or Co-op Play: select Team setup to change the order or positions in the team. Select two characters in the team to switch places. Some events also allow you to assign who controls the non-player member(s). Point at the proper number below the character face and press the A button to go through the players or COWL.

■ Snowboard events (halfpipe or snowboard cross): select your stance (Normal or Goofy).

You will now play the event. When playing an individual event in multiplayer versus play, all players play simultaneously, splitting the screen for each player.

After the event, the result of the event will be displayed. Here, press the - Button to switch to Replay Mode, clearing the standings from the screen. While in Replay Mode, hold the B Button to fix the replay camera position directly in front of you.

With multi-lane or multi-match events, repeat until all lanes/matches are completed.

If your rank is 3rd place or higher, the award ceremony will be played and you will receive a medal.

With some events, if you finished first with the fastest record, your performance can be saved as Ghost data. Select Yes if you wish to save it. This will enable the Ghost match selection for the event.

Finally, select one of the following to proceed to next:

Play again Play the same event again.

Select character Play the same event with a different character.

Select event Play a different event.

Quit game Return to Winter Games Menu screen.

Depending on your performance, you will earn Star Tokens, which you can use to purchase various items in Shopping Mode. Also, by fulfilling certain requirements, you may earn various emblems.

Festival

10 Play all events from Opening to Closing Ceremonies to try and become the overall champion.

First, select if you are playing Singles or as a Team. If you selected Team, select the number of players participating. With Team play, you will play as the member(s) of a four-man team, regardless of the number of players participating. Next, select whether to start a New Game or Continue a game.

After the Opening Ceremony, select the character(s) to use. Formerly, the selection for the number of players participating (Team Play) was made after the Opening Ceremony. It is now made before the Opening Ceremony.

Using Your Team in Single Match Mode

The team members registered in team play of Festival Mode can be used in Single Match mode (p.11). In one-player or multiplayer Co-op Play, select any of the team events, then in Select character screen press the 2 Button to call up the registered members.

For each "day" in the Festival mode you have multiple event selections, and there may be a training session or a competition. Select an event to participate in. Depending on your performance, points are awarded. Complete all events to end the "day."

At times, a rival will appear to challenge you. Compete against the rival in an event, and you will earn points for winning the event.

There are also breaks in the Festival mode. Go visit a village and shop for cool items. See Shopping (p.14) for details. Press the B Button to quit shopping and advance to the next day.

To leave the Festival mode, press the B Button during the event selection. Your action will need to be confirmed. If you select Yes to leave, the progress of the mode will be saved automatically.

Training

Select an event and character(s) as you do in Single Match, then practice the event by completing a given task.

After you select Training, you will be given a step-by-step lesson to learn the controls (press the - button to skip).

You will be given a task for your Training session. After the completion of the Training session, your performance will be evaluated, and you will earn Star Tokens accordingly.

Note: You cannot select Dream Events in Training. You may only select from the Olympic Events.

Wii Balance Board

Some events can be played using the Wii Balance Board for one-player play. After you select this mode, follow the onscreen instructions to initialize the Wii Balance Board. For information on syncing the Wii Balance Board, please refer to the Wii Balance Board Operators Manual.

Attention! Wii Remote Required

You will also need to hold a Wii Remote for the Menu controls, pausing the game, and other specific controls in the events such as running at the start of bobsleigh/skeleton. A Nunchuk is also required for making a grab in halfpipe.

The flow of the mode afterwards will be the same as in Single Match (p.8), except you will have a limited selection of the events, and you will not select the number of players. See p.17-20 for the available events with the Wii Balance Board.

Depending on the events, you will need to sit on the Wii Balance Board (bobsleigh and skeleton) or place it vertically towards your television set (snowboard events). Make left/right movement or accelerate/brake (where applicable) by shifting your body left/right/forward/backward.

To jump in applicable events, shift your weight onto your toes at the correct time. Do not jump on the board.

To perform tricks in events with aerial tricks, shift your body weight left/right/forward/backward during the jump.

With ski jumping, crouch (from standing position) to start, stretch out to jump, then crouch again to land.

Notes

- Wii Balance Board sold separately with Wii system.
- During the events, please remain on the Wii Balance Board until the result is displayed.
- The Wii Balance Board will turn itself off after exiting the mode. The initialization process will be performed each time you select this mode.

Some events can be played using the Wii Balance Board for one-player play. After you select this mode, follow the onscreen instructions to initialize the Wii Balance Board. For information on syncing the Wii Balance Board, please refer to the Wii Balance Board Operators Manual.

PARTY GAMES

12

Play in three kinds of Party Games that involve Olympic and Dream Events.

First, select the number of players participating in the game. Then select the Party Game to participate in.

Balloon Attack

Earn balls, and pop balloons for points.

Each player will first decide the character to use, then select the number of games (rounds) to play.

Next, on each round the designated player (player 1 on Round 1, player 2 on Round 2, and so on) will select the event, then compete in the selected event as normal.

After the event, each player will be given a number of balls according to their placement in the event. Then, on the ensuing balloon attack, shoot the balls and hit as many balloons as you can within the time limit of 60 seconds. If you run out of balls, your sight becomes a hazy blur for other players.

At the end of a specified number of rounds, the player with the most points is the winner.

Items

Point Balloon

Round Balloon score 10 points, jet balloons score 20 points.

Ball Balloon

Collect two balls.

Item Balloon

Take the item contained inside.

Mega Mushroom

Expands your sight, making it easier to hit targets.

Barrier

Protects you from Boo.

Bow & Arrow

Allows you to hit multiple balloons in a line.

Bomb

Triggers a blast that pops any nearby balloons.

Boo

Lose 10 points if you hit Boos.

Wheel Challenge

Spin a wheel to set up a Leader, and finish the event ahead of him/her for points.

Each player will first decide which character to use, then select the number of games (rounds) to play.

Next, a designated player will spin the wheel to determine a "Leader" for the next event. If the wheel stops on the VS spot, the players will compete in a two-on-two battle (in this case, there will be no Leader for the event).

If the wheel stops at one of the "7" spaces, a special event takes place. This could be instant points for the player who spun the wheel, double points for everyone on the next event or shuffling of the wheel amongst the other players. The next player will then spin the wheel until it stops at either the character space or VS.

The player will then select the event to play, and the players will compete in the events.

After the events, the Leader will earn 10 points* for each player he/she finishes ahead of. The other player(s) will take 10 points* away from the Leader for finishing ahead of the Leader. With Team Rattle, the members of the winning team will earn 20 points* each.

At the end of all rounds, the player with the most points is the winner.

* The amount will vary depending on the effects from the special events.

Panel Flip

Claim as many panels as you can.

First, select four characters to participate in the game (both players and COM characters). Then, select the number of games (rounds) to be played.

The game is played two-on-two. The first two players will team-up to play against the latter two players.

On each round the designated player will select the event to play, then compete in the event.

At the end of the events, each player will earn mobility (in points) for their rank in the event. Then, in the order of rank, each character will move on the panel, one mobility per step, to any direction possible. The panel each player passes over will belong to his/her team.

Upon moving and for tactical purposes, you may choose to stop before you use up your mobility. Any unused mobility (up to 9 units) will be stored in your team's pool either for your teammate to use or to be used in later rounds.

Some panels move around before the players make their move, preventing players from moving to that specific location.

There are also items on some panels for various effects.

At the end of all the rounds, the team with the most panels claimed is the winner.

Items

High Speed Shoes
Increases mobility by one.

Barrier
Puts a shield around one panel, making it impossible to pass over.

Lolite
Picks one character and places them on a specified panel.

Steal
Steals mobility from the opposing team.

Lightning
Reduces one rival's mobility to zero and costs them a turn.

Chao
Turns one row or column into your team's panels.

Jumping at the right time will not only give more altitude, but also display the trick mark (see below) for advanced tricks.

Trick Marks

With some events that involve aerial tricks, a trick mark may be displayed. Enter a command by drawing the displayed trick mark with the Wii Remote. Enter it successfully, and you will perform a more difficult trick. If you don't enter it quickly, you may end up stumbling with a big loss of time and momentum.

Ski Cross (Freestyle Skiing)

It's you against three others in a race to the goal. Hold the Wii Remote (and Nunchuk) like ski poles(s), and navigate your character through the winding course, while avoiding other competitors. Perform big jumps at the ramps on the course.

Halfpipe (Snowboard)

Zig-zag yourself through the course, and perform various aerial tricks at the edge of the halfpipe. Jump at the edge of the halfpipe, then perform tricks by moving the Wii Remote left/right/up/down. For advanced tricks, enter +Control Pad/Control Stick left/right/up/down to display the trick mark. Be careful not to stumble by doing a trick late.

If you have the Nunchuk, press the Z Button while jumping to grab the board.

Your performance will be evaluated in points, and you compete for the most points.

Snowboard Cross (Snowboard)

Navigate through the course and finish the race before your opponents do. You can show off during the jump with an aerial trick. It will accelerate you upon landing. Be careful not to stumble.

Hold the Wii Remote vertically, and tilt to navigate.

Speed Skating 500m

Compete for the fastest time to the finish line.

Watch your character's hand, and as soon as it flashes, alternately swing the Wii Remote from left to right, and right to left. Look out for the corners, where the pace of swinging changes. Swinging at the right time yields the best performance.

Special Action

In many events, you may use a Special Action once during the event (once per jump on ski jumping). Look at the A Button icon at the top left of the screen. You may press the A Button while the icon is lit (and whenever you think it is the right time) for the Special Action.

Short Track 1000m (Speed Skating)

Short Track Relay (Speed Skating)

Race against three other skaters to the finish.

Shake the Wii Remote left and right rapidly to build speed on the straight-away, and tilt it left to turn on the corners. Follow the green line on the inside of the track, as it indicates the ideal cornering path for greater acceleration. Be careful not to tangle up with others.

With pass off, you will skate with four characters (either by yourself or as a team). Shake the Wii Remote at the right moment to pass off to the next skater.

Figure Skating

Select music, then perform a series of routines to impress the crowd and judges.

As you skate through the routine, you will arrive at various "Element Points." Swing the Wii Remote up/down or spin the Wii Remote as indicated, to perform steps, jumps, spins or spirals. Also hold the Wii Remote steady vertically (upright) to keep your balance. There will also be a trick mark for combination jumps. At the finale, be sure to perform the finishing pose.

The Music Used in Figure Skating:

The Four Seasons (by Antonio Lucio Vivaldi)

Les Sylphes Op. 183 (by Emilie Waldteufel)

Fantaisie-Impromptu Op. posth. 66 (by Frédéric François Chopin)

Swan Lake Op. 20 (by Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky)

The Nutcracker Op. 71, Waltz of the Flowers (by Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky)

Ebner-Gesang In Ave Maria D. 839 (by Franz Peter Schubert)

Skeleton

Bobsleigh

Slide through the winding course. While the skeleton is played with one character, bobsleigh is played as a four-character team, but the controls are the same.

Hold the Wii Remote upright by your chest, and tilt yourself left/right with the Wii Remote to carefully negotiate the turns to the finish line. Stay on the yellow line as it indicates the best line on the course, accelerating your sled.

With bobsleigh, whether in Co-op Play or TeamVersus, all members in the team must tilt themselves to turn smoothly in the same direction.

Ice Hockey

Skate your way towards the opponent's net, and shoot the puck in the goal. The team with the most points at the end of the match wins.

Pass the puck around to your teammates to build up power, and shake the Wii Remote to blast out a powerful shot. Perform a hard body check to stop the opponent or steal the puck from them. If your opponent shoots, make sure to catch it. Blocking with your body could hurt yourself.

Curling

Curling is played in a team of four characters. Choose the direction and throw the stone. You may want to give it a spin if you want it to go behind one of the stones. Sweep in front of your stone to slide it further, or do nothing to slow it down naturally. At the completion of each end, the team with the stone closest to the center of the circle will score points. One point is given for each stone inside the outer circle and inside the opponent's innermost stone. After the completion of a specified number of ends, the team with the most points wins the match.
